

The Pharaoh's Pyramid is a strategy game for two players. Print out the picture above or draw your own pyramid of stones.

- Each player will need a pencil or colored marker. Youngest player gets the choice of going first or second.
- On your turn, draw an "X" on one or two stones, to remove them from the pyramid. You do not have to work from the top down; you may mark any stones you wish. But if you want to mark two stones on the same turn, they must be touching each other.
- Take turns marking stones until they are all gone. Whoever marks the last stone uncovers the Pharaoh's Treasure and wins the game.

If you draw your own game, experiment with different sized pyramids. How does changing the number of stones affect the strategy of the game?